Dear Guests

On behalf of the Hilton Malta team, I am delighted to welcome you all to the Hilton Malta for the FICAC 2027 European Regional Conference Malta.

The team and I thank you for choosing our hotel to be your home away from home during this meeting, during which you will celebrate the very important duties which you perform to represent your nations, and to foster relations with your host countries. I hope that the hotel, its facilities, and most importantly our team members will all contribute to the success of this gathering, and provide you with many valuable memories to recall in future meetings.

I hope, too, that you will also enjoy familiarising yourselves with St Julians and other locations in Malta, which, despite its small size, is rich in places of historical and cultural interest. This of course includes Valletta, a former European Capital of Culture, which, with its strategic location on a harbour in the Mediterranean Sea, has always been a site for trade and relationships in the international arena,

I look forward to meeting you during this very special occasion, and to personally welcoming you to our Islands and to our hotel.

Warm regards

Richard Cuello
